PLANS FOR WORK PROGRAM REVEALED

180 MILLIONS DUE MICHIGAN, STATE READY

MANY PROJECTS IN ROAD BUILDING PLANNED

Lansing, Mich., April 23 (AP)—George A. Schroeder, Democratic speaker of the house, said today that Washington officials had estimated Michigan's share of the federal $4,800,000,000 work-relief fund at $180,000,000.

He said he expected that the state and national administrations would cooperate in working out legislation that would enable Michigan to receive its full share of the fund, despite constitutional and statutory restrictions on bond issues.

Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner said today he expected that Michigan would receive about $23,000,000 for road work and grade crossing elimination.

Federal Help Pledged

"Our best information," he said, "is that we shall get $13,000,000 for roads and $10,000,000 for grade crossings, the money to be spent between July 1, 1935, and July 1, 1937.

"The department has a great many projects ready to submit but we still are awaiting instructions from the bureau of public roads. We will be ready when Washington is ready."

Schroeder said he had been promised help from Washington in devising legislation to correlate Michigan's constitutional restrictions on municipal expenditures with the requirements the federal government will place upon work-relief grants.

"We also expect," he said, "to have the cooperation of the governor's legal adviser and of the attorney general's office so that these great benefits can come to Michigan."

The necessity in Michigan for referenda on bond issues, with a two-thirds favorable majority has proved an obstacle in the past to federal grants. The government in some instances has accepted revenue bonds to circumvent the inescapable in a referendum.

Life Begins At 70, Says Union Veteran

Louisville, Ky., April 23. (AP)—M. H. Davidson, one of the seven Union veterans attending the tucky G. A. R. encampment t told his comrades he considered himself 88 years "of age" and not that many years old.

"Life really begins at 70," he remarked as he dodged an automobile at a busy street intersection here.

"Speaking of automobiles," he added, "I never try to wreck one by getting in front of it.

"How do I keep young? By keeping busy. It is better to wear out than to rust out."

Davidson spurns a cane and walks with the military bearing of a young soldier.

SUPPLIES SENT TO QUAKE ZONE

Tropical Heat Adds to Misery in Formosa, Lines Repaired

Taihoku, Formosa, April 23 (AP)—Agencies of mercy were taxed to the limit today in rushing supplies of food, water and medical necessities to the distant sections of the island where survivors of Sunday's tragic earthquake were in sore need.

While the scarcity of water in one part of the island lent terror to the populace, people in another section were imperilled by flood possibilities.

Tropical heat brought suffering to many whose homes were destroyed in the series of shocks which cost at least 3,152 lives and left more than 10,000 injured.

Pipe lines lay in ruins and reservoir waters were poured to waste by the quakes. Hasty repairs of railway lines enabled relief workers and physicians to get to the interior.

Surveys showed that approximately 2,000 square miles inhabited by 250,000 persons were laid in waste.

Paroled Convict To Be Returned To Prison At Jackson

Jackson, Mich., April 23. (AP)—Warden Charles B. Shean said today that Robert M. Allan, former president of the American State Bank, Detroit, would be returned to the Michigan state prison at once from the University hospital at Ann Arbor.

Allan, serving a sentence for misapplication of funds, has been on medical parole for several weeks. The warden said he was informed that Allan's condition is improved.

Blossom Festival Will Be May 5-12

Benton Harbor, Mich., April 23 (AP)—The spring blossom festival, which annually attracts thousands of visitors from several states, will be held May 5 to 12.

A program of outdoor pageants, children's parades, social events and tours through blooming orchards will be climaxed by a spectacular floral parade Saturday, May 11.

Preceding the festival will come the selection of a blossom queen on May 1 from a score of candidates chosen in as many western Michigan towns and cities.

May Conciliate In Ethiopia Affair

Rome, April 23. (AP)—The Ethiopian reply to an Italian note to Addis Ababa agreeing to conciliation of the East African border difficulties which have strained relations between Ethiopia and Italy, was received today and is under consideration.

The terms of the note were not revealed but it was said it was generally favorable and that undoubtedly a commission of conciliation will be appointed. When and where it will meet has not been decided but both Cairo and Athens have been mentioned.

TOLEDO PLANT OF CHEVROLET CLOSES DOWN

STRIKE IS CALLED BY UNION; 2,340 OUT OF WORK

Toledo, O., April 23 (AP)—Approximately 2,340 workmen indefinitely lost their jobs as officials of the Chevrolet Motor Co. closed its Toledo branch factory today when a strike was called by the United Automobile Workers Federal Union.

Fears of "grave danger" that the strike might spread to other auto factories were expressed by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

The exact number of men on strike was undetermined. However, James Rowland, chairman of the union's strike committee said 90 percent of the workers are union members. Green in Washington added that in the recent automobile labor board election 1,800 of the 2,200 men then employed in the plant favored the union as their bargaining agency.

Refuse Closed Shop

This primary election showed the factory is one of the few in the automobile industry where a majority of the workers are union members.

Fred Schwake, business representative of the union, said 600 of the 1,100 workers on today's first shift began the strike after company officials refused to grant the union's demand for a closed shop, and several other requests although the firm offered compromises on several points and a five percent general wage increase.

Late today, company officials demanded a vote by the workers on the company's entire list of counter-proposals. The union scheduled a meeting tonight but gave no indication whether a vote would be taken.

Alfred P. Sloan, jr., president of the General Motors corporation, parent of the Chevrolet firm asserted in New York the corporation would not sign an agreement for a closed shop.

"The vital question," Sloan asserted, "is whether General Motors corporation is willing to sign an agreement for a closed shop recognizing the local union as the exclusive representative of all the employes of the Toledo plant. This, General Motors will not do."

Sloan expressed belief the strike will forestall the final election scheduled for tomorrow to determine the membership of a committee to represent the employes for collective bargaining.

Richard L. Byrd, member of the national automobile labor board said in Detroit the board has not been asked to intercede in the Toledo dispute but that it is watching it closely.

In addition to offering a general wage increase of five percent, the company's counter-proposal to the union offered recognition of seniority rights, no discrimination against union officials, and a willingness to meeting with duly accredited representatives of its employes upon questions of grievances.

It refused, however, to sign a contract calling for a closed shop a five-day week of 7½-hour days a minimum wage of 70 cents an hour, and abolishment of the "speed-up" system.

A company circular issued today said the plant has been working 45 hours a week and been paying more than 70 cents an hour to 50 percent of its employes. Fewer than 100 workers have been receiving less than 58 cents an hour the circular added.

The shut-down was orderly and only about 100 union men were stationed on a picket line, Schwake said.

Hugh Dean, in charge of manufacturing operations for the entire Chevrolet company, who ordered the shut-down, said it affects al of the 2,340 employes on the payroll. The plant makes transmissions for Chevrolet and Pontiac automobiles.

Michigan Grocers Meeting In Flint

Flint, Mich., April 23 (AP)—Approximately 2,000 members of the Michigan retail grocers and meat dealers association gathered here today for their annual convention.

Today's program was devoted to organization and an informal "smoker." More than 50 topics will be discussed at business sessions tomorrow.

The convention will close with a banquet Wednesday night at which Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald will be the principal speaker. Other speakers wil linclude Mayor Howard Clifford of Flint and Rudolph Eckert, of Flint, president of the state organization. Several officers of the National Food Dealers association arrived today to take part in the business program.

Clipper Completes Flight to Alameda

Alameda, Calif., April 23. (AP)—The flying Clipper, conquering adverse ocean winds, arrived here at 2:58 p. m. (5:58 p. m. Eastern Standard Time) today to complete a leisurely 2,400-mile return flight from Honolulu in 20 hours and 59 minutes.

First to make the round-trip between California and Hawaii, the big monoplane swiftly approached her base from the hills south of San Francisco.

Some 10,000 spectators watched as the 19-ton flying boat alighted perfectly on the sun-lit waters.

Waves rolled from the huge hull and a number of persons, who had crowded close to the shore, were splashed by the combers.

Two of the craft's four motors were shut off and the others taxied the craft to the landing float.

Then customs inspectors and California department of agriculture men went aboard and for half an hour, gave the ship a thorough going-over to detect any insect or plant pests.

Three bags of mail, containing 14,000 letters, were tossed ashore and Captain Edwin C. Musick and his five-man crew emerged from their ship.

The fliers appeared slightly wan, but otherwise gave no indication they had just completed the 2,400-mile journey.

"The big thrill in the trip," Captain Musick said as he stepped ashore, "was the fact it was negotiated without a thrill.

"I think this flight has largely removed the element of chance in the trans-Pacific journey, although it is the longest commercial over-water flight ever attempted.

"I am well satisfied with the crew. Every man functioned efficiently. x x x

"The return trip was neither more or less eventful than the first."

Captain Musick said data would be compiled from their experiences during the flight, during which they saw only one freighter.

The crew took turns sleeping in the big bunk aboard the Clipper, and relieved each other at their separate tasks in flying and navigating the craft.

The 21 hours required on the return flight compared to 17 hours and 45 minutes for the hop to Honolulu last Tuesday and Wednesday. Both journeys were experimental flights preparatory to establishing regular passenger and transport air service over an 8,500-mile route between California and the Orient.

The plane averaged 114 miles an hour from Honolulu but one time, due to a 36-mile-an-hour headwind, its speed dropped to only 86 miles an hour, about half its top cruising speed of 160 miles.

HUSBAND HELD AS MURDERER

Police Reject Story Son Walked in Sleep and Shot Mother

Greenville, Tex., April 23 (AP)—Officers scoffed today at S. P. Darden's story that his wife was killed by a sleep-walking son and filed murder charges against the husband as he wept beside her grave.

Deputy sheriffs hastened to arrest Darden, a Caddo Mills filling station operator, at Clinton after the funeral services for the attractive 32-year-old woman.

"It will be hard for Jackie Glenn to live it down," Darden said in clinging to his story that the eight-year-old boy killed his mother with a shotgun while he stood at the bedside, asleep.

"It would be a physical impossibility for the child to even pull the trigger of the gun," Henry Pharr, state prosecutor insisted.

"I can't remember," was all sad-eyed little Jackie Glenn could say.

Darden told the officers that after the shooting in his Caddo Mills home yesterday morning, he had to shake the boy to awaken him.

Michigan Dental Society Elects New President

Detroit, April 23 (AP)—Dr. Harry F. Parks of Jackson assumed the presidency of the Michigan Dental society today at the society's annual convention.

Dr. Parks ascended to the office automatically as he was chosen president-elect in 1934. Dr. William F. Northrup of Detroit was chosen president-elect, to take office next year. Other officers elected included Dr. U. G. Rickett, Ann Arbor, vice president; Dr. L. E. Hooper, Wyandotte, and Dr. C. J. Wright of Lansing, members of the executive council.

The convention will end Wednesday.

Iran Experiences Series Of Shocks

Teheran, Iran, April 23 (AP)—A series of earth shocks rocking northern Iran (Persia) since April 12 continued tonight after killing an undetermined number of persons and doing unestimated damage.

Reports from Mazanderan province said 483 persons died in that division alone. Lack of communications facilities prevented any accurate survey of the devastated regions.

Dispatches from Teheran published in Paris said 600 persons were reported killed and thousands injured in the Iran quakes which destroyed the towns of Dodangueh, Tchadanguch and Lezard-Jarib and caused widespread panic.

Retail Food Prices Rise Two Per Cent

Washington, April 23 (AP)—A two percent jump in retail food prices during the two weeks ended April 9 was reported today by the labor department.

An increase of 6.8 percent in fruit and vegetable prices accounted for a good share of this rise.

Meats advanced 1.3 percent; dairy products, 3.0; eggs, 3.6; miscellaneous foods, .04, while cereals remained the same.

The same amount of food which cost $1.07 a year ago cost $1.24 the first week of this month. That same amount, however, cost $2.03 in 1920. The low point was two years ago when that same amount of food cost only 90 cents.

SCHOOL BILLS ARE OPPOSED

Fitzgerald Says He Will Veto Mill Tax Plan If Necessary

Lansing, Mich., April 23. (AP)—The school relief issue, thought to have neared a settlement in the senate Monday, met with a double setback today.

Governor Fitzgerald announced vigorous opposition to a proposal that $21,000,000 be appropriated directly to the schools and that 8-10 of a mill property tax be collected locally for the same purpose. The governor said he would veto the latter phase of the proposed program.

At the same time Chairman Andrew L. Moore, of the senate taxation committee, denied he had agreed to the indirect property tax appropriation estimated to provide $3,000,000 to $3,500,000. Senator John W. Reid, Republican, Highland Park, chairman of the education committee announced last night that an agreement had been reached on the dual program to give the schools approximately $25,000,000 a year.

Chairman Moore called a meeting of his committee tonight to consider the proposal. The entire program meanwhile remained in committee with Senator Reid reluctant to release the $21,000,000 measure until the taxation committee has acted.

Integrated State Bar Is Approved

Lansing, Mich., April 23 (AP)—The house adopted the Watson-Cuthbertson bill providing for an integrated state bar by a vote of 86 to 13 today and sent to the senate.

The measure accepted by the house was a substitute for an original bill proposing a board of governors to discipline practicing lawyers and to draft and enforce regulations. Some time ago the house refused the original bill. The substitute placed virtually all the powers proposed for the board of governors in the state supreme court.

The bill would make it mandatory for every active attorney to be a member of the integrated state bar. It would give the organization and the supreme court board powers to discipline those found guilty of unethical practices.

REFORM PLAN OF GOVERNOR NEAR ECLIPSE

GOP INSURGENTS IN HOUSE LINE UP WITH DEMOS

BY GILBERT T. SHILSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Lansing, Mich., April 23 (AP)—The administration program of governmental reform moved closer to eclipse today when Republican insurgents in the house wrecked one of its major measures.

Seven Republican members joined the Democrats to accept amendments to a bill proposing to abolish the administrative board and set up a new department of budgeting and finance. The changes were recommended by the Democratic controlled state affairs committee. They stripped from the governor all control over fiscal affairs and the proposed department of finance. Rep. George C Watson, administration floor leader, attempted to stave off the adverse report. The house insisted upon accepting it, by a vote of 51 to 47.

The Republicans who voted for the anti-administration amendments were Reps. Raymond M Burr, Ann Arbor; Melvin H. Lee, Royal Oak; H. Earl McNitt, Cadillac; Henry Douville, Alpena; William Green, Hillman; Walter R. Remer, Saginaw, and Neil Wheeler, Shelby. Reps. Douville, McNitt and Green were the original house insurgents who early in the session blocked an administration attempt to gain Republican control of important commitees.

Veto Is Predicted

As the measure will reach the floor for open debate, probably Wednesday, it is entirely unacceptable to Governor Fitzgerald. He indicated he would veto it in its present form. As introduced it provided for replacement of the administrative board with an emergency board and consolidation of budgeting and purchasing powers in the hands of a finance director to be appointed by the governor. Governor Fitzgerald contended he needed direct control to cut expenditures and put the state on a pay-as-you-go basis.

As amended the bill proposed placing the direction of state finances in a commission composed of the lieutenant governor, the state treasurer and the auditor general. The set-up, should the bill be enacted, would be Republican Auditor General O'Hara, Democratic State Treasurer Fry and Republican Lieutenant Governor Read. The commission would have full authority to name the director of finance. He would be responsible to the commission and not the governor.

Administration leaders frankly expressed a preference for no bill at all. If the house line-up remains unchanged there apparently are sufficient votes for passage of the measure. What the Republican dominated senate may do was a question. The proposed appointment of Lieutenant Governor Read to the finance commission, at $2,500 a year, might attract support from his followers. Through a coalition with the Democrats they might push the bill through.

The house state affairs committee was to meet Wednesday to consider another administration measure—that providing for a consolidation of all tax collecting agencies. Administration spokesmen feared it may emerge in a form which would destroy the intent of the governor. Some admitted that the entire administration program is doomed.

House Favors May 1 For Trout Season

Lansing, Mich., April 30 (AP)—The house voted today to retain May 1 as the opening date for the trout season, but later reconsidered and revived the proposal for further consideration.

A conference committee report recommending that the season open the last Monday in April was defeated by a vote of 47 to 38. Upon reconsideration the measure was tabled and another attempt will be made by its sponsors. The earlier date was advocated by residents of West Branch, who want to hold a "trout carnival" the week end preceding the opening of the season.

Increase For City Workers Is Vetoed

Detroit, April 23 (AP)—Mayor Frank Couzens vetoed a five per cent blanket increase for city workers today when he took action on the 1935-1936 budget. The mayor said that the money is not now available for the increase and he termed the credit plan advocated to bring in the additional funds "questionable."

FRENCH ARMY IS ENLARGED

120,000 War Babies Are Conscripted for Military Training

BY ROBERT B. PARKER
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

Paris, April 23. (AP)—"War babies," 120,000 strong, streamed to the colors today to swell the number of Frenchmen under arms in France to 420,000.

In cities and villages throughout the land the conscripts—born while the big guns of the World War were roaring out their message of death—thronged railway stations, leaving for barracks for the start of their 18-months training period.

Gay for the most part, the recruits sang and joked as they said their "Au Revoirs" to friends, relatives and sweethearts. Many carried gifts of candy, cake and sweetmeats.

Major-General Marie Gustave Gamelin, French army chief of staff, inspected troops at Nice and, after passing them in review, commented.

"The morale of the army is magnificent."

Most of the youngsters attended special services at churches before leaving.

After medical inspections, they will be issued khaki or horizon blue uniforms.

Several months of training will follow, after which detachments of the new conscripts will be moved up to the eastern front fortifications to replace 60,000 trained men whose terms, originally scheduled to end April 13, were extended so as to keep the total number of men under arms up to the minimum considered essential for safety.

It was pointed out that thousands of the youngsters are no strangers to discipline since they have been drilled in France's semi military political organizations.

Others, however, are universary graduates who will get their first taste of military life, while still others have been working.

The movement of the 120,000 conscripts to their camps will require two days.

Evidences Of Purple Gang Reappearing

Detroit, April 23 (AP)—Police generally agree that the purple gang is no longer an entity in Detroit underworld activities, but it figured in a report to headquarters today which resulted in the closing of five downtown handbooks.

Police received an anonymous letter stating that the "books" were controlled 50 per cent by the purple gang.

"I know the report is not true," Inspector William Rick said. "The purple gang is a thing of the past. As far as I know the former members have nothing to do with the operation of these handbooks."

Rick said he believes the letter was sent by competitors of the books.

Personnel Changes In Liquor Stores To Be Finished June 1

Lansing, Mich., April 23 (AP)—Personnel changes in outstate liquor stores probably will be completed by June 1, Gilbert H. Isbister, secretary of the state liquor control commission, said today.

Recommendations of county committees, he said, were awaited on the selection of new managers at Detroit, Lapeer, and St. Johns, and that no changes have been made in Cadillac, Reed City, Sutton's Bay and Newberry.

There are 101 stores under the commission, normally employing about 700 persons.

Escanaba PWA Loan Of $1,500 Cancelled

Washington, April 23 (AP)—Secretary Ickes announced today cancellation of a PWA loan and grant of $700 made to Escanaba, Mich., for the municipal gas plant and $800 for laying gas mains at the request of the applicant.

SCHEMES FOR USING MONEY TO BE SORTED

ROOSEVELT NAMES FRANK WALKER AS KEY MAN

BY W. B. RAGSDALE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, April 23 (AP)—Setting up the machinery through which will be fed all plans for creating jobs out of the four billion dollar work relief fund, President Roosevelt today moved a step nearer the big-spending stage of his program.

The White House, in a four hundred word statement, delegated the task of passing on all plans to Frank C. Walker, a New York lawyer who for years has been a close friend of the president.

To handle the job, Walker tomorrow will return to the post he formerly held as head of the national emergency council. A new division of the council was set up to deal with the plans. Donald R. Richberg, who has been executive director of the council since Walker left a few months ago, will devote his full time to directing NRA.

Uniform Wage Scale

Almost coincidentally with the announcement, word came from Secretary Ickes that he would begin conferences with labor leaders soon looking to a revision downward of the public works wage scale.

The secretary said recently that all work projects would have a uniform wage scale. Administration spokesmen had suggested that workers under the relief program be paid a security wage which would average about $50 a month with lower rates for unskilled labor.

As outlined by the White House statement, all suggested plans for using work relief funds will flow through the new division of the emergency council. There they will be sorted and checked. Those that are deemed meriotorious will be passed on to the proper government department for any engineering study that may be needed. The division will study the plans not only from the standpoint of their feasibility, but also with an eye to their capacity for giving jobs to the unemployed in the relief area in which they are located.

If the plans are approved by this unit, they will be submitted to a works allotment board which is to be set up by Mr. Roosevelt within a few days. The White House emphasized that all allotments would be passed upon by this board and that the president would serve as active chairman.

While the statement did not specify the method that would be followed in carrying the plans through actual construction and job giving, it was disclosed elsewhere that the governmental agency under which the projects logically fit would be charged either with the actual building or with supervision in cases where the work is done by states or municipalities.

Walker, a native of Montana but more recently of New York, was treasurer of the Democratic national committee and a close

In the Headlines From Washington

(By The Associated Press)

A new spoke in the relief machine drive-wheel was reflected with the return of Frank C. Walker as head of the emergency council and more especially chief of the division of applications for the huge work fund.

Secretary Morgenthau offered a new taxation threat against bonus legislation and suggested huge inheritance levy increases when asked to specify the treasury's preference.

Another government silver boost appeared imminent in the face of increasing world prices for the metal.

The AAA faced another problem resulting from a survey showing an increasing number of farms in the south.

The new naval supply bill with funds for 24 new vessels slashed in half, cleared the house appropriations committee and underwent initial floor consideration.

The Deposit Insurance Corporation revealed that government securities were absorbing one-fourth of the assets of insured banks.

NRA announced as its eventual objective the elimination of price-fixing.

Delay of a final senate vote on the farm tenant bill was seen as a possible move to block prompt consideration of the anti-lynching measure.

SENATE BILLS ARE ADVANCED

Mill Tax As "Yardstick" for Grants to U. of M., MSC Approved

Lansing, Mich., April 23 (AP)—Important issues, headed by proposed mill tax appropriations for the University of Michigan and Michigan State college, advanced in the senate today.

The membership approved in committee of the whole two bills "measuring" the university's appropriation on the basis of a .73 mill tax and that of Michigan State college at the rate of .243 mills. There was no debate as the bills went to a position for a final vote.

Under the bills the university would receive $4,062,355 a year and Michigan State college $1,352,267. Specific appropriation measures pending in the house propose $3,200,000 for the university and $1,200,000 for Michigan State college, including allotments from sales tax revenues.

Tax Exemptions

The senate also approved in committee of the whole the Flynn bills to exempt certain agricultural and manufacturing products from the 3 per cent sales tax. The measure is a part of a controversy that has extended over a two-year period.

Amendments were inserted to give the sales tax board broad powers to grant exemptions for agricultural and industrial goods used in the processing or production of other products. Farmers claim the bill would save them $500,000 a year while manufacturers estimate their exemptions would exceed $800,000.

The supreme court recently held that manufacturers are not entitled to exemptions under the present act. While approving the measure, the senate heard warnings from the floor that they were "tampering with the constitutionality of the statute."

Escanaba Salesman Has Car Robbed In Menominee Monday

Menominee, April 23 (Special)—City police today sought a thief or thieves who last night stole from a parked car here three salesman's bags valued at $150. The bags contained 83 women's dresses and a quantity of men's neckwear. The car was parked on lower Ludington avenue near Hotel Menominee.

The car was owned by W. J. Fitzsimmons, of 500 South Thirteenth street, Escanaba, who arrived in Menominee Monday evening. The car containing the dresses and grips was parked on the south side of the hotel 50 feet from Sheridan road.

Sometime during the night thieves punched two holes in the top of the car above the driver's seat and reaching in opened the door by turning the handle. A number of inexpensive dresses in the back of the car were not taken.

Mr. Fitzsimmons said this morning that fingerprints were found on the car. He returned to Escanaba late today for a new supply of sample apparel.

Skandia Farmers Reject Compromise Offer In Milk War

Marquette, Mich., April 23 (AP)—Farmers in the Skandia district, by a vote of 65 to 3, tonight rejected a compromise offer of four cents a quart for milk from Marquett distributors and decided to continue their demands for five cents, a price two dairies agreed to pay. The two leading dairies refused to pay the higher price.

The compromise price was accepted by a delegation from the Marquette-Alger County Milk Producers' association at a conference this morning in Mayor Arthur F. Jacques' office, which was attended by a delegation from the association, Marquette distributors and Herbert E. Perkins, chairman of the county board of supervisors, subject to ratification at tonight's meeting in Skandia, scene of minor disorders and five arrests last week.

The compromise provided that producers accept four cents a quart until October 1, when, it was announced at the conference, the farmers would ask an additional cetn a quart, because of increased feeding costs during the winter.

The association voted to appoint 15 of its members to make a house-to-house canvass in Marquette in an effort to obtain more customers for the two dairies agreeing to pay five cents a quart.

advisor of Mr. Roosevelt during the 1932 campaign. He was called to Washington in an advisory capacity early in the Roosevelt administration and later was named to head the emergency council, being charged with the coordination of government agencies whose functions overlapped.

The emergency council, itself, was set up early in the administration to draw together and coordinate the work of the various emergency units along with that of the regular departments and the emergency agencies.

For the last several months, it has served as a channel through which legislation desired by government departments was routed to Capitol Hill.

Walker was in Washington tonight and will step into his new post early tomorrow. Already, officials said, the nucleus of the new organization has been set up and it will immediately start passing upon plans that have been drawn up by various government departments.

Projects calling for the spending of several billion dollars are in plan form and can be passed along rapidly. Harry L. Hopkins, the relief administrator, has virtually completed his mapping of relief areas into districts. This will show the new unit the sections containing the most unemployed, so that they may be fed quickly to the work locations.

Liberals Fear 'Palace Gang' Will Lead Roosevelt Into Taft's Fate

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
(Daily Press Washington Correspondent)

Washington — According to various popular magazine writers, Roosevelt has fired the "Brain Trust," spurned the left-wingers, turned completely to the right, and surrounded himself with a new ring of conservative advisers.

I suppose that explains why the major New Deal casualties of the last year happen to have been Budget Director Lew Douglas and NRA Administrator Hugh Johnson, two of the best friends conservative financiers and industrialists have had in Washington since Mr. Hoover left.

I suppose that's why Roosevelt faced with his most crucial program in the $4,000,000,000 work-relief operation, has chosen as his "brain trust" to direct it the three outstanding New Dealers who still stick their necks out as liberals—Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Tugwell, and Mr. Ickes.

And I suppose that's why Roosevelt had Tom Corcoran and Ben Cohen, two original brain trusters and leading young Brandeis-Frankfurter disciples, prepare and fight for the Wheeler-Rayburn holding company bill, which has called forth the "power trust's" most furious propaganda effort of all time.

"Palace Gang" Strong

Enough of that. What I mean is that the situation as to Roosevelt's advisers is much more complicated than most commentators would have you believe.

Despite those important incidents, the ear of Roosevelt has lately been lent most of the time to cautious conservatives, the alleged dangers of radical reforms.

A certain ring of those fellows is coming to be known as the "palace gang" and the more Roosevelt seems to listen to them, the less he seems to take counsel from such liberals as Tugwell, Ickes, Hopkins, Frankfurter, and the progressive senators. The "palace gang" includes:

Donald Richberg, who has become increasingly unpopular with labor and the liberals since he started trying to make the New Deal the darling of "big business."

Morgenthau on Top

Secretary Henry Morgenthau, who now stands in at the White House better than any other cabinet member, who takes his troubles in all their detail to the president—in contrast to independent Ickes, who runs his show—and who has become increasingly powerful through the no-longer independent budget bureau.

Postmaster-General Jim Farley, the administration's political boss.

White House Secretary Marvin McIntyre, commonly considered a pipe-line to Roosevelt for the big-time lobbyists here, and the doorman for "big business."

Raymond Moley, original Number One Brain Truster, who comes here frequently, loaded with advice from the business-financial crowd in New York.

Money has been the lion at a long series of luncheons, cocktail parties, and dinners in New York, arranged by a taxicab magnate named Freed, with the idea that Moley could explain "reasonable radicalism" to the tycoons while they in turn told Moley what was wrong with the government.

Moley's Whitewashed

Liberals here usually think Moley has been taken into camp and whitewashed of his last trace of pink. Mr. Freed's imprimatur has just appeared here on an incredibly handsome and expensive privately printed book, warning the administration against radicalism—including an attack on the stock market act—and prefaced with editorial admonitions from Moley that desirable reforms can be subordinated to recovery. The red-hot liberals are red-hot about this book.

Harry Hopkins is the favorite White House liberal at this writing. That's because Harry has been playing politics more than the others.

The liberals are distinctly worked up and discouraged, for the most part, at Roosevelt's disposition to listen to conservative advice in most matters. They express dark fears that he will go the way of President William Howard Taft.

Point to Taft's Fate

Taft was elected on his promise to carry out policies of Theodore Roosevelt, who endorsed him, and then succumbed to the blandishments of stand-patters and the "big business boys," losing all the progressives and ending up as the worst-defeated president in history.

As to the complications and conflicts embodied in the situation—considering "left" factors initially mentioned in this story—the men who know F. D. best differ.

But some who have known him many years insist that the president's "right turn" is based on the idea that an urgent need of stimulating the capital market, capital goods market, and private employment can best be met by instilling business confidence.

Roosevelt knows the relief load is simply too huge to carry and thinks he needs some real recovery to win by 1936.

Re-employment by industry of two or three million men, according to this theory, would encourage Roosevelt to become more radical than he ever was before. He will be far more "left" in his second term.

Must Regain Confidence

Of course Herbert Hoover used to whisper similarly to the senate progressives. And on the other hand, Roosevelt has at times shown his instincts to be infinitely more liberal than Hoover's ever were.

Roosevelt's biggest job is to regain the confidence of the American people. Business recovery has always been a sure-fire method of doing just that and the work-relief program—which is being coupled with overtures to business—is the one big weapon which may achieve it.

$40,000,000 From Sales Tax Forecast

Lansing, Mich., April 23 (AP)—James E. Mogan, director of the state board of tax administration, estimated today the total income from his department during the present year will be $40,000,000.

He said sales tax collections last year totalled $34,871,000. The increase, Mogan said, was due to bettered business conditions in Michigan and to more accurate collections on retail merchants.

Mogan reported sales tax collections for March this year were estimated at $3,500,000 compared to $3,211,000 in 1934. The difference would solve Governor Fitzgerald's financial program.

MAY CUT LIGHT RATES

Iron River-Stambaugh—Recent conferences and unofficial reports indicate that the Iron Range Light and Power company, which serves the west side of the county, will soon announce a reduction in rates.

The announcement may come next week, following a meeting of the city commission in Stambaugh.

Hopes for obtaining a reduction increased over the week-end when representatives of the Central Illinois Electric and Gas company, of which the Iron Range is a subsidiary, held a conference with the city commission in Stambaugh, and talked to the officials of Iron River and other municipalities on the west side.

The Central Illinois representatives were Fred Lee and H. L. Larson, engineers, and John Ralph, of Houghton, district manager. L. D. Powell, local manager, also met with the Stambaugh commission.

TRAGEDY MARKS SEEN

Menominee—The Northwestern train which killed three people and badly injured a fourth was the passenger which arrives here shortly before 6:00 a. m. At it was stationed at the depot in Marinette Sunday evidences of the wreck were noticeable on the locomotive. Small parts of the automobile which was hit were fast in the pilot and there was blood on the pilot and other parts of the engine. The accident occurred about 1:30 a. m. Sunday.

The car in which the victims were riding broke thru the lowered gates at the crossing and hit the engine at the pilot. The train just picking up speed after leaving the station carried the car about sixty feet. The four people in the car were returning to their homes from a dance north of Fond du Lac.

PROJECTS APPROVED

Marquette — Unanimous approval was given last night by the city commission to a report submitted by the city advisory planning commission in which the carrying out of seven specific projects, involving park and recreational development and roadside beautification, was recommended.

In adopting the report and recommendations the commission turned it over to Commissioner H. E. Patrick, head of the department of public works, and Mayor A. F. Jacques with power to act.

The advisory planning commission was appointed by Mayor Jacques some time ago when the city commission approved of an appropriation of $8,000 for this year's work on community beautification and recreational projects and employed Edward Tauch, landscape architect, to draft a master plan together with detailed drawings of projects proposed for inclusion in the 1935 program.

TOURIST PROMOTION PLANNED

Menominee—Members of the Menominee Lions and Rotary clubs and city businessmen in joint session in Hotel Menominee last week surveyed the possibilities of resort development here and pondered means of keeping in Menominee some of the millions of dollars which tourists annually pour into upper peninsula tills.

The meeting acted to request adoption of the Laona, Wis., to Marinette-Menominee routing of Highway US-8 in preference to a northern routing, and heard a talk by Roger Andrews on means by which Menominee can put to work its recreational facilities to earn tourists' dollars.

TAX RATE REDUCED

Marquette—The city commission last night voted final approval to a 1935 budget which calls for a tax rate for general city purposes of $6.15 on $1,000 assessed valuation. This is 50 cents less than the rate for last year and is about half as much as the rate 10 years ago.

The school tax rate will be $10.89 this year, compared to $10.98 in 1934 and the library tax rate will be $1.50, compared to $1 last year.

The tax levy for general city purposes this year will be $55,350; the school levy will be $98,000 and the library levy approximately $13,500, or one and one-fifth mills on the city's total assessed valuation, which will be approximately $9,000,000.

Specialist Claims Quins' Condition OK

Callander, Ont., April 23 (AP)—Dr. Alan Brown, child specialist, examined the five Dionne girls today, said they soon will be their usual selves again after recovering from colds, but Oliva Dionne, the father, remained unsatisfied.

Dionne advised Dr. Allan Roy DaFoe, the quintuplets' regular physician, that he wants doctors of his own choosing to make an examination.

Dr. Brown, Toronto specialist, said the girls' condition was generally "excellent." All except Marie, the tiniest, had an airing. She remained indoors but was expected to be in perfect shape in a day or two.

The most valuable tree on record was a Kentucky black walnut, which sold for $1500 alive and was cut up into veneers worth $35,000.

While occupied with his work of exploring 27,000 miles of cable around the South American coast, Captain Haine discovered three whales entangled in the cable.

Old Beaver Dams Will Be Removed In Trout Streams

Newberry, April 23—Removal of old beaver dams to improve trout conditions has been started by CCC camps and by the students at Dawson Tech. The latter group are working on Dawson creek. Newberry CCC camp men are on projects on Locke creek and the Teaspoon west of Newberry. Not all of the dams will be moved; none of those which are now being actively used by the beaver will be touched, most of them are more than four years of age and all are in a badly silted condition. No removal will be done where the dams are not injuring the healthy condition of the stream. After the streams mentioned have been completed others have been listed for correction. Lewis Smith, supervisor of district six, reports that about two months will be required to complete the work on the more important trout streams in the county.

New High School Song Introduced By Its Composer

"Beneath the Orange and Black", words and music by Chapman Smith, graduate of the class of 1927, was introduced to the Escanaba senior high school students at a general assembly yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Smith played the piano accompaniment while the E men sang the new song. Later the Escanaba high school band, playing before the students for the first time in their new uniforms, played Mr. Smith's arrangement of the song.

Tom O'Connell, bassoon player with the band, was given a musical citation in the form of epaulets on his uniform by R. P. Bowers, musical director. This is the first of a series of awards being given to deserving high school musicians. They are given a series of five examinations, each succeeding one being more difficult ending with a satisfactory solo with the band.

Following are the words of the song, "Beneath the Orange and Black":

We're loyal to thee, Escanaba,
Ever faithful, true.
O'er field and track
The Orange and Black
Is furled 'neath Heaven's blue.
Our vict'ry songs resound thy praise
When Esky wins the game,
But though the vict'ry be not ours,
We still proclaim thy name.
Our love is thine, Oh, Escanaba,
Ever and a day,
And though the years will live on
A greater love all way.
When school days pass and we are gone
Our dreams will bring us back
To live again the days we spent
Beneath The Orange & Black.

U. P. BANKERS PLAN MEETING

Annual Convention Will Be Held at Blaney Park June 8

Hermansville, Mich.—J. Earl Bishop, manager of Blaney Park, which is operated by the Earle interests of Hermansville, was in town Saturday to arrange for the meeting of the upper peninsula bankers with Chris. H. Gribble, cashier of the local bank and chairman on arrangements.

The convention will be held at Blaney Park on Saturday, June 8. The plans provide for registration of bankers and their ladies at 10 a. m. The regular business meeting of the bankers, known as Group One, Michigan Bankers association, will be held at 11 a. m. and will be presided over by W. George Cudlip, vice president and cashier of the Merchants and Miners Bank of Calumet, and this year's chairman of Group One. A noon luncheon will follow the business meeting.

The afternoon will be given over to the recreational facilities of Blaney Park, all of which will be available to the bankers and their ladies, and will include golf on one of the finest nine-hole courses in the upper peninsula, swimming in the only outdoor pool of its kind in the upper peninsula, tennis, shuffle board, archery, saddle horses and ponies, boating, fishing, trips through the wild life sanctuary and to the famous old character's, Paul Bunyan's, original camp.

Activities for the ladies attending will be in charge of a committee consisting of Mrs. Stewart E. Earle, Mrs. G. Harold Earle and Mrs. Chris. H. Gribble.

The annual banquet will be held in the evening at the "Inn," Blaney Park's newest unit, and will include a program of musical numbers and an address by a notable out-of-town banker, to be arranged for and announced later by the committee appointed for that purpose consisting of Howard E. Nadeau of the Commercial Bank, Menominee, E. L. Pearce of the Union National Bank, Marquette, and W. W. Thompson of the Commercial Bank, Iron Mountain.

SCHOOL AID

TWO bills prepared by the senate committees on education and taxation provide for state aid for the school districts in an amount considerably beyond the fond expectations of the educational interests.

The senate education committee favors the reporting of the Thatcher measure, which would provide $21,000,000 in primary supplement and equalization aid, while the taxation committee has a companion bill, which would give the school districts an amount represented by the abolition of the state property tax at $3,000,000 to $3,500,000. The eight-tenths of a mill, formerly used for support of the universities, would be levied as a local property tax for support of the schools.

It is not known how the Fitzgerald administration looks upon the new educational financing program, since the governor has insisted that $20,000,000 would be sufficient to take care of the needs of the school districts. M. R. Keyworth, while campaigning for the office of state superintendent of public instruction, subscribed to this theory, but since his election has supported the claim of the so-called educational lobby that $25,000,000 in addition to the primary school fund and other existing sources of aid is necessary.

The poorer school districts are still uncertain as to whether they will get a nequitable share of the $21,000,000 to be provided under the Thatcher measure. During the recent campaign, repeated promises were made that the equalization principle of state financial support for schools would be fully recognized. Campaign promises are not always made to be fulfilled, however, and the poorer school districts will have to be on their toes when the bill comes up for consideration in Lansing.

SEEKING HARMONY

JUDGING from the tone of the announcement of a meeting of Upper Peninsula Democrats to be held in Escanaba next week decisive action will be taken to promote harmony within the ranks and also straighten out the patronage mess that has involved the party in many squabbles since its ascendancy to power in 1932.

The so-called Comstock Democrats are gunning for Elmer B. O'Hara, who was elected chairman of the state central committee largely because of the influence of Arthur J. Lacy, the party's unsuccessful gubernatorial candidate last fall. With the death of Auditor General John K. Stack early this year, the Lacy faction in Michigan's Democracy has lost much of its strength in the Upper Peninsula. The Lacy-O'Hara group, however, seems to be still in control of densely-populated Wayne county.

Governor General Frank Murphy of the Philippines, who was mentioned for the job of arbiter in Michigan patronage disputes, now appears to have declined the responsibility, which admittedly would be a heavy one.

Upper Peninsula Democrats are anxious to promote party harmony due to the fact that the lack of it has caused Washington to withhold considerable patronage from Michigan in the last several months. For instance, Martin R. Bradley of Hermansville, former speaker of the house, was influenced in his decision not to run again for the legislature, because of a promise that he would become collector of internal revenue. Mr. Bradley has been waiting for months for the appointment to come around.

With preparations already being mapped out for the 1936 presidential campaign, it is obvious that Michigan Democrats will have to iron out their difficulties soon and present an united front if they wish to have a chance to recoup the losses suffered last fall and this spring, largely as a result of factional strife. For this reason, the Escanaba conference should be a highly important one from the standpoint of the Democrats.

COUNTY REFORM

THE county home rule amendment proposal is up for consideration by the lower house of the state legislature.

It is proposed to resubmit to a vote of the people of Michigan the question as to whether the constitution should be amended to permit the citizens of a county to revamp their system of county government if they feel certain changes are needed.

The proposal was one of the constitutional amendments voted upon by the people of Michigan last November, but it failed of passage because, it is felt, of the presence of other unpopular propositions on the ballot. At that time, a vigorous campaign was waged against the gasoline and weight tax reduction amendments, and to make their defeat a certainty many citizens voted "No" on all proposals, including that providing for county home rule.

It is generally conceded that county government in Michigan can be revamped to secure more efficiency and reduced costs to the taxpayer. Only those who fear they might lose their political jobs seem to be opposed to the idea. The demand for county government reform is growing. At least those counties who want to change their archaic set-up should have a right to do it, but this privilege is now denied under the provisions of the state constitution.

NO SURVEY YET

CITIZENS of Alger and Delta county have been led to believe by various public statements that the new $4,880,000,000 work relief bill contained an appropriation for a survey of the route of the proposed Au Train canal, but inquiry at the various departments of government at Washington reveals no such evidence.

Such statements have cause some communities and its citizens to build up false hopes of bright futures for themselves. It has caused many to keep spinning dreams of grandeur, and as a result they have done nothing else. It is admitted that the Au Train canala project would provide a huge amount of employment and business activity for several years, but it is unwise for the people to pin all their hopes on this one flimsy straw.

If communities have been led to sit on their haunches waiting for the development of the Au Train canal dream into reality, much valuable time and thought has been wasted. If they have been banking completely on this one project to solve their future problems and have given no thought to any other worthwhile activities that might be pursued, it is a matter that is lamentable, indeed.

How much better it is to take an inventory of our natural resources and possibilities and direct our attention to a series of smaller projects, which we are confident we can put across. We need more than one arrow in our quiver in order to effectually attack the problems that now beset the upper peninsula.

AROUND THE U. P.

(Ironwood Globe)

MISS CHAMBERS, principal of junior high school at Iron Mountain, reveals that high school graduates who are candidates for college on an average misspell more than one word in every hundred they write. And one out of six cannot even copy a sentence into an examination book without writing at least one word incorrectly. Folks who had had occasion to train high school graduates in writing know that she doesn't exaggerate one bit. But then, it may be comforting for high school graduates to know that some of the best writers in the country are poor spellers.

Speaking of community boasts, Menominee now claims its regulation of beer and liquor trade is the best in any city north of the Straits and cities. A. Wonder if it is as hard to get moonshine in Menominee as it is in some other cities of the Peninsula, now that Judge Raymond has indicated federal authorities will not tolerate blind-piggers and moonshiners? If it is, Menominee is well regulated in that respect.

Upper Peninsula counties apparently were not represented at the Democratic patronage conclave in Grand Rapids last week end. However, an Upper Peninsula man is scheduled to take one of the plum jobs, that of collector of internal revenue. He is Martin Bradley of Hermansville, speaker of the house during the recent Democratic regime, and one of the most worthy Democrats in the state. He has waited many months for the appointment.

Once the housing program gets under way, other cities of the Peninsula hope to give the Soo a run for its money, so to speak.

CHAPTER XXXV

The key rattled in the lock on the other side of the door. Millicent waited, expecting momentarily that the door would open; that Bob Caise would enter the room and a deadly combat would ensue between him and Norman Happ. But the door didn't open. The key continued to make noises in the lock as the person on the outside of the door strove to work the lock.

After a few moments the key was withdrawn, and then after an interval, another key inserted. Once more a key rattled about in the lock and Norman Happ turned to Millicent and whispered, "It's someone who's trying to pick the lock with a skeleton key."

"But who could it be?" she whispered.

"Hush," he answered. "He'll hear us."

They stood perfectly still, listening to the noises made by successive keys as they were fitted, one by one, into the lock and the man on the other side of the door tried to open it.

Norman Happ, leaning close to Millicent so that his lips were almost against her hair, whispered, "We've simply got to find out who that is. Stand perfectly still and don't make a move when I open the door."

"You're not going to open the door!" she protested.

He placed his finger against his lips in a mute command for silence, then leaned forward so that his ear was against the panel of the door. A few moments later the noise made by the key in the lock ceased. The knob of the door turned again as though the person standing in the hallway might be making one last attempt to push the door open. Then there was silence.

Norman reached for the door knob. Millicent flung her weight against his arm, pulling his hand away from the knob.

"Don't be foolish," he told her. "We've simply got to know who's at the door."

"If you open the door he'll see you," she said.

"No, he won't. He's going to the elevator."

"I won't let you do it. He'll shoot."

"No, he won't. It isn't Bob. Bob has a key. I've got to find out who it is."

"I'll tell you," she said, "what you can do. Wait until he gets in the elevator and then run down the stairs. You can get to the lobby almost as quickly as he does. Then he won't be suspicious. Wait until you hear the elevator door clang and then you can start."

* * *

The words were no sooner spoken than they heard the sound of the elevator door moving on its track.

"Now," she exclaimed, "go ahead. I'll wait. Come back here just as soon as you find out."

He jerked the door open, paused while he peered down the hallway, said disgustedly, "He's already in the elevator." Then he turned turned toward the staircase and disappeared around the corner of the corridor.

Millicent closed the door of the room, grateful that she had prevented Norman from rushing into danger but suddenly realizing that she had left herself in a far from enviable position. She was alone in this apartment, rented by a killer or a killer's accomplice, and Bob Caise, who had threatened to "take care" of her, might return at any moment.

She felt a touch of panic but reassured herself with the thought that Norman Happ would soon return. She decided to utilize the few minutes that she would necessarily be in the apartment by making a more thorough search.

There was some note paper, some stamps, a rent recipe, a blotter, some pens, ink, and the broken stub of a pencil in the desk, but nothing that gave her a clew to that which she sought.

Millicent turned back once more toward the closet, suddenly remembering that she had looked only at the coat hangers for garments. She had not looked into the darker corners at the back of the closet.

She opened the door and peered to the right. She thought she saw a bulky object and stooped, pushing forward her right hand with exploring finger-tips outstretched.

She touched something hard, solid and smooth. Her fingers ran around it until she railized that it was a suitcase. She groped for the handle, found it and lifted.

The suitcase was surprisingly heavy.

She dragged it out to the light and gave an expression of delighted surprise. It was the suitcase Jarvis Happ had given her—the suitcase containing the books of account covering the business dealings of Happ and Gentry.

She forgot her surroundings in the thrill of her discovery. She dragged the suitcase well out into the center of the apartment, dropped to her knees, opened the clasp, unfastened the straps and stared at the assortment of books revealed as the suitcase swung open.

She glanced through the books hastily and realized that beyond doubt they were the ones which dealt with the affairs of Happ and Gentry.

Millicent's mind raced with a quick succession of startling thoughts. There was now no question but that the occupant of the apartment was directly concerned with the affairs of the Happ household and must also be implicated in some way in the Drimgold murder. But what possible connection could

WE MUST BE DUMB

We've talked it over, Bob and me,
On one thing anyhow agree—
We must be dumb. We've worked and labored
The nigh-on thirty years we've neighbored,
And made a living, raised our brood,
And furnished clothes and fire and food.
Even a panic have got through it,
But had to figure close to do it.

But, gosh, we've worked, we've worked like sin,
Right from the time we started in,
Saved in the good times, skimped in bad ones,
And had our sorrow and our sad ones.
We're up at six, to bed at ten;
We sleep eight hours and rise again;
And just tonight we two confided:
We must be dumb, we both decided.

Because we know another chap
Who never seems to do a tap,
Yet dresses just as well or better,
Is really quite a pleasure-getter,
We've known him thirty years, and yet
We've never seen him in a sweat.
Take folks like that, how do they do it?
We must be dumb, that's all there's to it.

Upper Peninsula Group Meets In Escanaba On April 27

Gerald J. Cleary, vice chairman of the Upper Peninsula Democratic committee received word Tuesday from Elmer O'Hara, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, that the Upper Peninsula meeting will be held in Escanaba Saturday afternoon. Mr. O'Hara will arrive in Escanaba Friday evening from Detroit.

Headquarters for the Upper Peninsula Democratic meeting will be established at the Sherman hotel. At 12 o'clock Saturday noon, a Democratic luncheon will be held at the Sherman hotel.

Attorney William J. Miller, prosecuting attorney of Delta county, has been appointed temporary chairman of the meeting, and local Democrats are asked to call Mr. Miller, phone 380, to make reservations for the luncheon. Attorney Miller will have charge of the luncheon program, as well as the meeting, which will follow the luncheon.

Considerable interest is being taken in the coming meeting, and the various counties in the Upper Peninsula have signified their intention of sending large delegations to Escanaba.

LEDERLE RESIGNS

Detroit, April 23 (AP)—Elmer B. O'Hara, state Democratic chairman, announced today that a meeting of Upper Peninsula county chairmen would be held in Escanaba at 1 p. m. Saturday.

The announcement came shortly after Arthur F. Lederle resigned as chairman of the Wayne county Democratic committee and was automatically succeeded by Dr. Angus McLean, veteran Democrat who has been honorary county chairman.

Lederle said his resignation was necessary because his duties as assistant corporation counsel prevented him from devoting sufficient time to the chairmanship. The move was regarded in political circles here as the first step in the proposed reorganization of the party in Michigan.

First Aid Contest Here On Saturday

Boy Scouts of this district will compete in the national first aid contest at the Escanaba city hall Saturday, April 27, it was announced by Jack Floyd, district commissioner. Troops from Gladstone, Escanaba, Trenary and other communities will take part. The upper peninsula competition will be held at Marquette Monday, April 29.

The contests will include demonstrations of bandaging and splint making, treatment for burns, broken bones, cuts, shock, fainting and other accidental injuries.

The public is invited to attend.

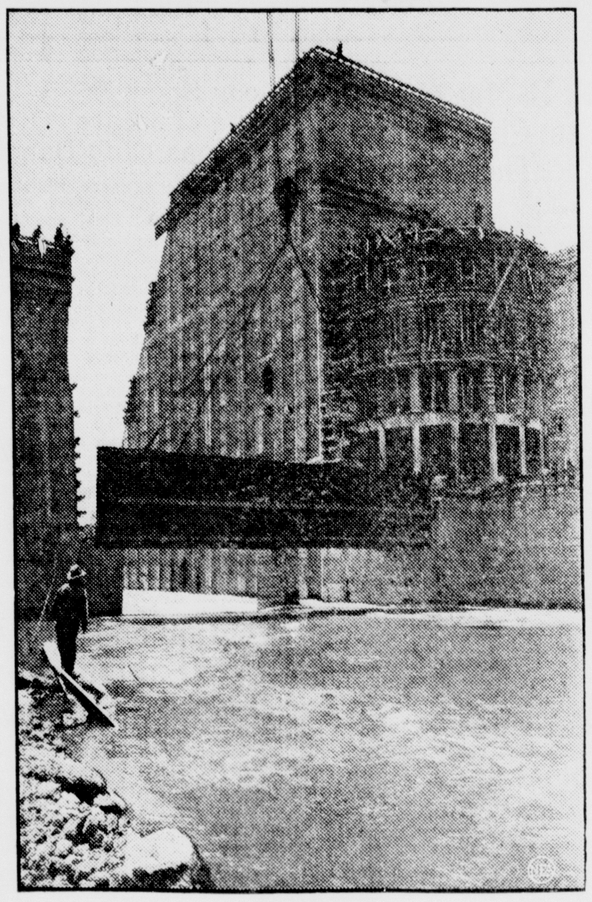
Norris Dam's First Gate Falls



Despite the peril to President Roosevelt's entire power program because of house opposition, work is going ahead at full speed on Norris Dam, key point of the mammoth TVA project in Tennessee. This striking picture shows the first 15-ton steel gate being lowered into place between two sections of the great Clinch river barrier, so filling of the far-reaching reservoir may be started.

Menominee Yachtsmen Expect Busy Season

Menominee, Mich.—When local yachts point their bows eastward into the bay for week-end cruises or for summer vacation voyages their skippers have a wide range of waters from which to select the points of their itinerary.

East shore harbors of Green Bay have long been familiar to local yachtsmen, as even small craft venture across the bay, but distant points are known to skippers here too, especially those of the larger pleasure craft.

Of the local fleet A. C. Wells' Black Watch II, largest craft making Menominee her home port, usually ventures farthest on summer cruises on the lakes. The harbor here, however, has given shelter to many a salt water boat gypsy voyaging on the lakes.

Stafford Lambert's Flight of Miami came into the lakes from the ocean to be at her owner's service last summer while he stayed at his estate near Minocqua, Wis. She berthed in the yacht basin at Menominee Beach.

The Black Watch II was an ocean-going yacht when she was brought here on charter and subsequently purchased by A. C. Wells. Lake Superior usually sees her in the summer and she is known in Georgian Bay, which has for years been a favorite cruising ground of Alfred Henes' Dorothy.

Georgian Bay, Canadian waters studded with islands and teeming with bass and other game fish is a mecca each summer for Great Lakes yachtsmen. After the annual sailing races from Chicago and Port Huron to Mackinac Island, most of the boats sail east to Georgian Bay to idle away a week or more.

Mackinac Island will always lure yachtsmen, as other visitors. Nowhere in the nation has life so completely passed by a pioneer outpost and left it so richly endowed with the charm of age. Haldiman Bay, the island's harbor, is a busy place in June, July and August, as the great lake passenger steamers come and go, the D. P. Perry makes its trips around the Fairy Isle, ferries ply back and forth between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace and the island, and pleasure craft from many a lake port drop anchor and gigs, jolly boats and tenders take their owners ashore.

Superior's deep, cold waters lure fishermen yachtsmen in numbers each year and the trip affords a chance to enjoy the picturesque St. Mary's River and the world-famed locks at Sault Ste. Marie, which pass more tonnage each year than any other canal in the world, not excepting the Panama Canal dividing the Americas or the Suez Canal giving passage between the Mediterranean and the Red Seas.

Nearer home, lower Green Bay invites the voyager, Sturgeon Bay and the Sturgeon Bay ship canal giving easy access to Lake Michigan. Green Island is only a hop-skip-and-jump down the bay from the harbor mouth and tiny Hat Island, whose bordering waters are well known to bass fishermen, lies between Green Island and Chambers Island, our "across the street" neighbor. Behind Chambers Island lie the Strawberry Islands.

On the east shore of the Bay yachtsmen visit Egg Harbor, Fish Creek, Ephraim, Sister Bay, Ellison Bay, Plum Island, Washington Island, Detroit Island, Rock Island, St. Martin Island, Gravelly Island and the Summer Islands. Going north, the skipper can go from bay to lake across the Door County archipelago through the Porte Des Morts (Death's Door), Plum Island, Rock Island, St. Martin Island or Poverty Island passages.

North of Chambers Island the yachtsman has clear sailing in the bay with no need to heave the lead until opposite Cedar River, where Whaleback Shoal thrusts a threatening hump from the water in midbay. Farther north near the entrance to Little Bay De Noc are the Drisco Shoals.

Little and Big Bays De Noc are also visited by local yachtsmen. Garden Harbor in Big Bay De Noc is a gem of a shelter in which many local skippers have dropped their hooks.

More than 300 army officers were retired for physical disability by the War Department in 1933.

Spring Mode in Shoes Goes Colorful

(Shoes from Palter LeLiso, New York.)

The shoe story this spring is a colorful one—literally.

Never before have bright-colored shoes been so widely used. You won't see them on the street in town, of course, but just stroll along any boardwalk, around a resort hotel or in the country and you'll realize that women who pride themselves on knowing how to choose accessories have opened their hearts and pocketbooks to the new vogue.

There are handsome suede oxfords of blue, green, red, medium blue, yellowish tan and wine to go with sports suits, particularly tweed ones that show bright-colored flecks. All of these have low heels and some have no heels at all. They're perfect for golf and long hikes over hill and dale, and they're easier to keep clean than plain white or black and white.

Pumps in Grays

To go with suits and other tailored town clothes, there is a breath-taking variety of navy blue and dark gray pumps and oxfords. Black ones, fascinatingly trimmed with bands, dots and scrolls of white, are better sellers than plain types.

For daytime, look at high-throated pumps and oxfords that cover up your instep. For evening, do just the opposite. As far as the dancing hours of spring and summer are concerned, the more that can be seen of your sheer stockings, the better. The newest evening sandals show not only toes and sides of the feet, but heels as well.

Remember that flat heels are good for evening, too. It may be a little difficult to get used to them, but, once you do, you'll wonder how on earth you ever managed to dance until 3 a. m. in high ones.

In the sketches at the left here today are three smart shoes for the leisure hours of a lady's life. At the top is a flat-heeled evening sandal, piped with silver kid and trimmed with a rhinestone buckle. Below it is a handsome toeless sandal of fabric in a paisley design. Piped with green kid and built up to give a high - throated effect across the instep, this is a model that will do you proud in anybody's ballroom.

At the bottom is an afternoon one-strap model in white kid with interesting lacings of bright red cord. The heel is scuffless.

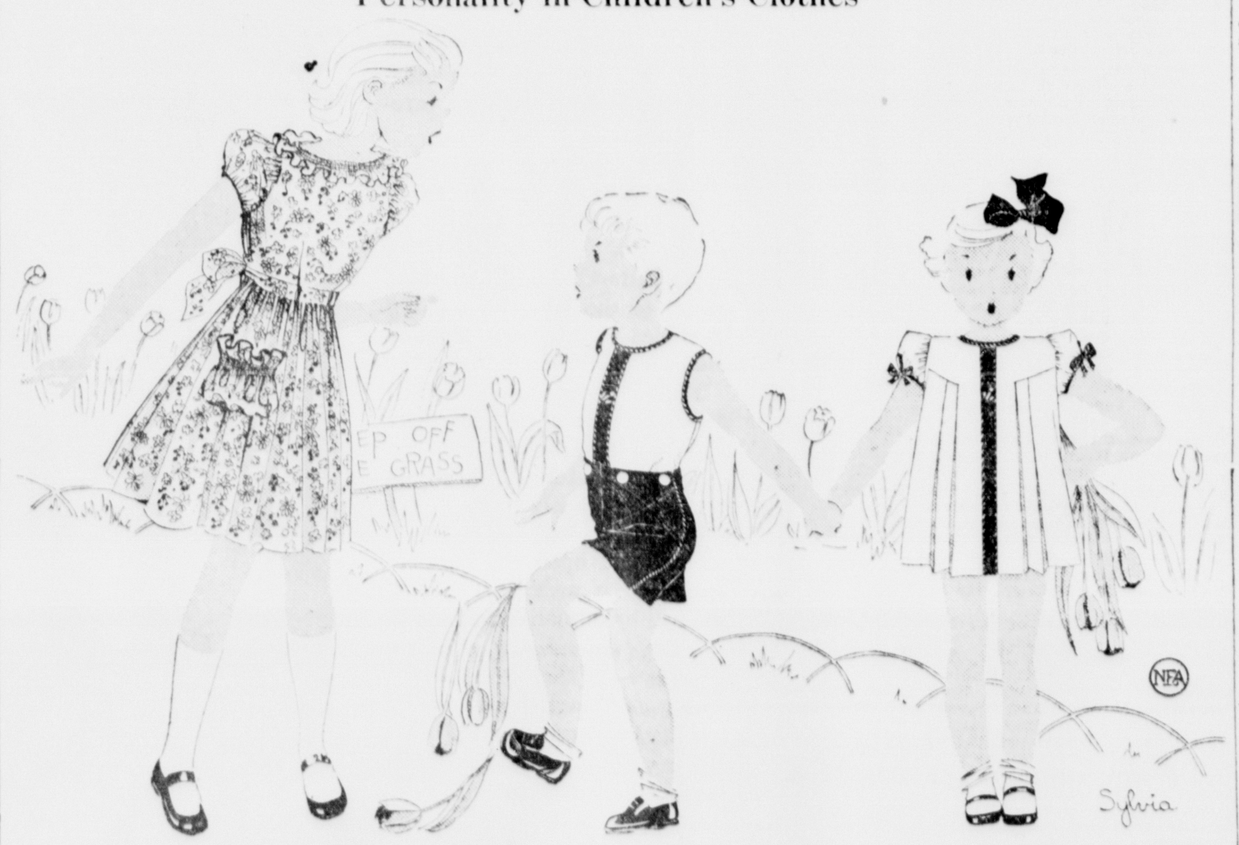
Note Straight Heel

In the other panel (right) is a comfortable belted oxford of brown calf. The medium heel is perfectly straight.

The other street shoe (center) with square toe and heel is reminiscent of the Regency period. Of navy kid, it has interesting cut-outs and is trimmed with fine dots of white kid.

Below it is a flat-heeled sport-sandal of oxblood kid with russet leather heel and hundreds of perforations. It's perfect for country and, with tweeds, can be worn in town as well.

Personality in Children's Clothes



(From Best and Co., New York)

Whether she's a tailored child or a fluffy bit of curly-headed femininity, there are absolutely right clothes to suit the personality of your small daughter. The same rules that you stick to when you plan your own wardrobe should be applied when you choose hers.

If the diminutive replica of yourself is forever climbing trees or chasing baseballs that her big brothers have knocked over the fence, don't get her a flock of printed voiles and silks with hand-smocking and delicate touches of embroidery for trimming.

Washables Easy-to-Iron

Get her one or two, of course—and utter a prayer she'll keep them clean long enough to get to a party or to Sunday school. As far as the rest of her wardrobe is concerned, look for interesting washable and easy-to-iron dresses of percale, gingham, linen and broadcloth.

Incidentally, those so-called practical costumes can be quite as sweet in a tailored sort of way as more frilly ones. They're trimmed with metal, bone and cork buttons in anchor, key, arrow, star and moon shapes, and with fine pleating that stays pleated and is easy to launder. For the most part, however, their colors are what make them outstanding. As is true of the smartest clothes for women, little girls' frocks generally are done up in two, three and even four shades.

Brother Suits

The model here at the right today—half of a sweet brother and sister outfit—comes in white linen lawn with navy blue broadcloth trimming. A white anchor, embroidered on the navy stripe down the front, gives the dress a nautical touch that is charming.

The boy's suit to match includes blue shorts and a white blouse of linen lawn with blue bands and white pearl buttons.

The other dress (left) is for a dressier child. Made of crisp silk with blue, rose and gold printed floral pattern on an eggshell background, this has puff sleeves, one large patch pocket with shirring at the top to match the same type of shirring on the neckline, and a sash that ties in a large bow at the back. It's washable, of course.

Theatres

AT THE DELFT

The perfect answer to the demand for wholesome and inspiring pictures that has swept the screen world recently is offered in "Sequoia," startling and unusual nature drama featuring Jean Parker and currently playing at the Delft theatre.

Filmed amid the grandeurs of Sequoia National Park, the outdoor drama is as new and fresh as mountain air in the extraordinary entertainment values. Literally "something new under the cinema sun," it is proving a sensation.

With Miss Parker and Russell Hardie as two young people who find love amid the grandeur of the giant trees in Sequoia National Park, there is also the most stirring drama of animal life ever filmed.

A deer and a mountain lion, two of nature's deadliest enemies, were photographed in their natural haunts from the time they were two weeks old until a friendship developed that lasted until maturity. After they pass the "bottle fed" stage, their instinct to fight with each other is transferred to a battle with the wilds.

Hundreds of deer on migration are shown leaping windbreaks over twenty feet high on migrations to remote high Sierra regions; more than a dozen varieties of wild life are revealed in their natural haunts, including coyotes, bears, raccoons, eagles, rattlesnakes, fawns and small lion cubs.

The few human players in the supporting cast with Miss Parker and Hardie include Samuel Hinds, as a naturalist-writer; Paul Hurst, as a deer-killing poacher; Edward Brophy, as a forest ranger, and Willie Fung, as an oriental houseboy.

Stories in STAMPS By I. S. Klein

IN DEFENSE of the KING of KINGS

THE threat of Premier Mussolini of Italy to defend the honor of his country against purported insults of Abyssinian troops at the border of Italian Somaliland, has brought out a vast army of well-equipped troops in defense of the only remaining independent kingdom in Africa. That is the answer of Haile Selassie, King of Kings of Ethiopia, Conquering Lion of Judah, Elect of God and Light of the World, who traces his descent directly from King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba.

That the soldiers Mussolini has sent to Eritrea and Somaliland will have a tough battle on their hands is generally agreed, for the natives of Abyssinia are considered among the best fighters in the world. Their ruler, shown on several stamps of the country, has introduced many modern innovations among his people.

'Doctor Bull' and 'Sweet Adeline' Are Screen Features

A benefit show for the local corps of the Salvation Army will open at the Rialto Theatre today for a three-day run.

Two excellent feature pictures, "Dr. Bull" with the inimitable Will Rogers and "Sweet Adeline" starring Irene Dunne, have been secured for the show.

Advance ticket sale has been conducted by a corps of salesmen.

Proceeds derived from the sale are designed for use in eliminating a deficit incurred by the corps several years ago.

In "Dr. Bull," Will Rogers and Louise Dresser are reunited again although this time Miss Dresser will not be his wife. Vera Allen, importation from Broadway, has been cast for the leading feminine role.

"Doctor Bull" is the new title on "The Last Adam," Book of the Month club selection. Marian Nixon, Howard Lally, Berton Churchill, Andy Devine, Rochelle Hudson and Ralph Morgan have supporting roles.

"Sweet Adeline" is a pertentious and gigantic musical spectacle. In the title role is Irene Dunne, famous stage and screen singing star.

The picture is taken from the sensational Broadway hit by Jerome Kern and Oscar Hammerstein II and is crammed with hilarious comedy, delightful romance and stirring drama in addition to its gigantic specialty numbers.

Unique dancing numbers are staged by Bobby Connolly on novel and mammoth sets with scores of Hollywood's most beautiful girls taking part.

Miss Avis Johnson, who has been spending the Easter weekend here with her sister, Mrs. E. A. Lawin, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Johnson, left Monday evening. Miss Johnson teaches in Kenosha, Wis.

As befitted the man, services were simple, brief and unostentatious. Masonic services were conducted at the family residence with only immediate members of the family in attendance. A. D. Alguire served as chaplain.

Following the service, the remains, accompanied by a group of close friends, were taken to Minneapolis for cremation.

Gladstone, as a community, yesterday paid public tribute to the departed industrialist. Complying with a proclamation issued by Mayor Ole Peterson, business houses closed for either a portion or all afternoon. Flags about the city were flown at half-mast.

COMISH PROBES SENEY ELECTION

Employes Not Forced to Support Ed Grondin For Supervisor

Charges that employees of the Schoolcraft county road commission in Seney township were ordered to support Ed Grondin for supervisor in that township or lose their jobs, from the statements made at an investigation on Monday afternoon, appear to have been the result of a misunderstanding. The investigation was conducted at the office of the county road commission in the presence of members of the road committee of the county board of supervisors.

Prosecuting Attorney William J. Sheahan, who was invited to the meeting for the purpose, conducted the greater part of the questioning. Everett C. Morrison and Calvin Wright, two of the commission's employees who signed the affidavits on which the charges were based, Larry Devine, road commission foreman at Seney, Jack Cavanaugh, who was present at the time the alleged "voting instructions" were given, and County Engineer William Doell were the principal persons heard.

Morrison and Wright told the commission that from conversations they had with Mr. Devine shortly before the April election, they gained the impression that Devine was advising them to vote for Grondin and that they believed he was acting under orders from Doell. Cavanaugh claimed Doell's name was not mentioned in the conversation. Under questioning it was brought out that after a conversation with Doell, Devine talked to the men at Seney but disclaimed telling the men that Doell was ordering the men to vote for Grondin. Devine stated that he did not believe Doell or himself had influenced the men to vote for Grondin.

Denies Pressure

Doell told of receiving a letter from Grondin before the election which he and Devine interpreted as asking Doell to have Devine talk to the men. Doell claimed that at the time he said that it would be useless to talk to the men as they would probably vote as they pleased anyway. He made the following statement: "I never tried to influence a man's vote in all my life that is, a man who worked for me."

It was further brought out during the investigation that since the election the men had not been approached by the engineer or his men on the subject of how they voted and that not one of them had been discharged. The road commission made no decision at the meeting to take any further action on the matter.

PAVING PROJECT HAS A CHANCE

Highway Dept. Considers Plan Feasible, Awaits Definite Word

The paving of highway US-2 in the city of Manistique with funds made available from the president's public works bill is entirely feasible, but is in a large measure dependant upon the rules and regulations for the expenditure of the fund, which the federal government experts have yet to set up, according to a letter received by Mayor Gierke and read at the council meeting on Monday evening. The mayor had written to the highway department of the state some time ago on the matter.

The council passed a resolution turning over the sum of twenty-five dollars to the city planning commission to take care of the commission's incidental expenses. The grant was made with the understanding that any unused portion of the fund be returned to the city treasurer.

Routine matters coming before the council included the transfer of $4,449.22, which was weight and gas tax money, from the general fund to the street fund and the acceptance of the report of the chief of police for the month of March. In March the police report shows that a total of ten arrests were made in the city.

BY FRANK MAC MILLEN
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, April 23 (AP)—The silver-mining shares and some rails and specialties seized the leadership in another active stock market session today.

While the run of market leaders, which have figured prominently in the recent rise, appeared contentto coast along, silver stocks, aided by the advance of 2¼ cents an ounce in the price of the bar metal, not far from the new official treasury buying price of 71.11 cents an ounce, found plenty of takers at gains of fractions to 3 points or so.

Rails felt the buying incentive created by individual car-loadings reports for the latest week, many of which appeared today and indicated a healthy advance over the previous week. Hope for a supreme court decision on the carrier pension law also was a factor. Some of the sugar shares aided the bull forces as the current firmer price for the raw and refined staple attracted attention.

Heavy Turnover

With the exception of Monday, today's stock exchange business was again the best in over two months, with aggregate turnover of 1,226,080 shares. The selective nature of the day's buying movement, however, is indicated by the fact that stocks advanced only .2 of a point, as measured by the Associated Press average for 60 equities, to 40.0. The 30 industrials used in the compilation were off .2 of a point at 55.4.

When London financial markets opened this morning after a long week-end holiday, silver was quoted there at the equivalent of 70⅜ cents an ounce, and later Montreal silver futures got up their full permissable trading limit of 3 cents an ounce to a new high.

The white metal was not able to hold at its best by the time the bar silver price was posted here but the rapidity with which foreign quotations pushed ahead attracted many followers to silver stocks. Cerro De Pasco at 56 American Smelting at 40 3-8 and Silver King at 12½ were each at new highs for a year or more, while U. S. Smelting was up nearly 3 points at 112¼, and Park Utah was fractionally better at 4.

South Porto Rico Sugar topped its peak for the year with a gain of more than a point at 25 3-8. American Sugar bettered that advance to finish at 62 7-8, and good gains were scored by Great Western, Central Aguirre and others.

Many of the usual market pacesetters finished a little behind, including U. S. Steel at 33, American Telephone at 111 1-8, Chrysler at 37 5-8 and Sears Roebuck at 37 5-8. General Motors did not appear appreciably softer than other leaders despite the outbreak of labor trouble at the Toledo plant of Chevrolet. The close was 30⅝, off 5-8 of a point.

Centralized carlots: 90 score, 31; 89, 30½.

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, April 23—A break of three cents tumbled wheat prices below the dollar a bushel level today and caused a sharp recession in the prices of other grain futures.

The drop in wheat values, coming near the close of the trading session, was the result of a wave of bearishness that enveloped speculators and caused pronounced liquidation as the downward trend broadened. The market was influenced mostly by reports of showers in important grain producing areas and forecasts of additional precipitation overnight.

Wheat closed 2 5-8 to 2¾ cents below yesterday's finish, May 99 to 99 1-8, and corn dropped 1½ to 2 cents. Oats lost 1 1-8 to 1 3-4, rye 2 3-4 to 3, and barley was unchanged to 1 cent off. The market was carried back to the approximate level of ten days ago.

Corn and oats followed wheat. The corn pit was full of liquidating orders and shy of buying power. Provisions eased stubbornly with grains.

BY G. A. PHILLIPS

New York, April 23 (AP)—The bond market ran into some profit taking today but leaders met prompt support and ended higher.

Such industrial bonds as Bethlehem Steel 5s, Chile Copper 5s, White Sewing Machine 6s, Penn Dixie 6s and Universal Pipe & Radiator 6s were in demand at advances of 1 to 2 points.

The broadest gains aomng government obligations were made by the treasury 3¼s of 1941, which advanced 13-32nds to 108.6, and the 3¼s of 1944-46, up 14-32nds at 106.6. Others averaged 6-32nds to ¼ point higher and the Liberties and indirect obligations improved nearly as much.

"What did you have in mind, ma'am—just something to knock

The DARK BLOND

by CARLETON KENDRAKE
©1935 NEA SERVICE, INC.

there be between Drimgold and the Happs?

Then there was Bob Caise to be considered. Undoubtedly he knew more than he cared or dared to tell about the woman in the black ermine coat. Bob Caise had a key to the apartment. Yet he had knocked at the door before he had tried that key—a peculiar series of code knocks. If he had a key why had he bothered to knock? And why the code?

Millicent had though at first that the occupant of the apartment worked daytimes and was in the apartment only at night. But Bob Caise must have expected to find someone there. Otherwise he wouldn't have given that peculair knock. And who had been the other person who had come to the door, given the same set of code knocks, and then tried in vain to unlock the door?

Millicent looked up from the suitcase, suddenly realizing that she had lost all track of time while she had been speculating upon those angles of the case. She wondered if Norman had been able to reach the lower floor of the apartment house in time to see the person who had left the elevator. Had he been successful in avoiding detection?

She carefully closed the suitcase and carried it to the door so that when Norman returned no time would be lost in leaving the apartment and carrying away the valuable evidence she had discovered.

Minutes passed, minutes which seemed eternities. Slowly the conviction was forced upon Millicent's mind that some untoward circumstance had upset Norman's plans. She knew that his concern for her safety was such that no ordinary interruption would have prevented him from returning to the apartment.

Millicent realized that she dared not wait longer for him. He had undoubtedly encountered something which had prevented him from returning. There was only one thing for her to do, and that was to leave at once.

She picked up the suitcase and, as she did so, realized that she was holding every bit of evidence they had been able to uncover, every bit of evidence which would show the sinister activities of the woman in the ermine coat, or link Bob Caise with the Felding murder. In her right hand she carried the suit case which had been stolen from the Happ residence. Over her left wrist was the strap of the purse in which reposed the folded note signed by Bob Caise. She took a deep breath, tried to steady the pounding of her heart, opened the door into the corridor, hesitated a moment, then pushed her way out into the corridor the heavy suitcase banging against her legs.

The corridor was empty.

Millicent closed the door behind her, heard the spring lock click into place, turned toward the elevator and then decided that she dared not risk descending in the elevator. She turned down the corridor toward the stairs, the heavy suitcase causing her to exert all of her strength in order to carry it.

She reached the bend in the corridor, turned toward the stairs and heard the clang of the elevator door.

Her heart gave a leap as she realized that this might be Norman Happ. She dropped the suitcase to the floor and turned back toward the corner of the corridor, ready to cry out Norman Happ's name as she saw him come down the corridor.

She swung around the corner and suddenly came to a dead stop in consternation.

A man was walking directly toward her, a man who walked with the quick, purposeful strides of someone proceeding toward a very definite objective. There was something in the set of his shoulders, something in the poise of his head which reminded her of a wild beast hunting down some small, defenseless animal.

MUFFED FLY IS TURNING POINT

Ten Tiger Hits Nicely Spread Out by Sad Sam Jones

Chicago, April 23 (AP)—A fly muffed by Chester Morgan, rookie Tiger fielder, with the bases loaded and two out in the fourth, gave the White Sox their chance to score five runs and defeat Detroit, 7 to 2, in the opening game of the American league season here today.

The error alone allowed two runs, but three more followed as Vic Sorrell, thrown off strike, walked Sam Jones, Sox pitcher, and Jack Hayes and Rip Radcliff clicked with timely singles. Radcliffe, rookie outfielder from Louisville, led the Chicagoans' 11-hit attack off three Tiger pitchers with four consecutive singles.

The 42-year-old Jones went the route, minimizing the effect of ten Detroit hits.

PLANT TROUT IN LAKE

Wausaukee — The Wausaukee Sportsmen's club is doing things in a big way that ought to be appreciated by Wausaukeeans, and by fishermen where ever they come from. The club sponsored a project to improve fishing in the Big Wausaukee river in order that tourist-fishermen will be honestly attracted to Wausaukee, knowing that in the local waters fish are to be caught.

A truckload of brook trout, between 1000 and 1500 fish, seven to nine inches long, were put in the Wausaukee lake last Sunday.

These trout were purchased from a commercial hatchery out of a fund subscribed by Wausaukeeans.

YANKEES LOSE TO BOSTON SOX

Four New York Hurlers Pounded; Final Count Is 7 to 4

Boston, April 23. (AP)—The league-leading Boston Red Sox won their sixth game out of seven starts today as they turned the official opening of the American league season here into a triumphant homecoming by defeating the New York Yankees 7 to 4.

The Sox pounced on four Yankee hurlers for ten timely hits while Fred Ostermueller and Henry Johnson kept the New York bats well in check with nine safe blows, one of which was a home run by Frank Crosetti.

Charley Ruffing, the Yanks' big red-headed right-hander, who started on the mound, was forced to leave the game voluntarily with one out in the third inning, because of a stiff back. When he retired he had held the Sox scoreless on one hit in two and one-third innings and had pitched to only seven batters.

Then the Sox started scoring. They walloped Johnny Murphy for eight hits and all of their runs before Jimmy Deshong was rushed to his rescue in the sixth with two runners on and one out. Deshong pitched through the seventh, when he was lifted for Pinchhitter Earl Combs and Vito Tamulis finished the game.

Ostermueller was knocked out of the box in the fifth when the Yanks rallied to score two runs. Johnson relieved him with the bases full and two out and forced Crosetti to fly to Julius Solters to end the uprising. Crosetti's home run came off Johnson in the eighth but that was all for the Yankees.

Wisconsin Beaten By Western State

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 23 (AP)—Western State Teachers college baseball team defeated the University of Wisconsin 4 to 3 today, gaining thereby a triumph over Tomek, star Badger moundsman, who was the only hurler to subdue the Teachers last season.

Dietz pitched for Western State, allowing five hits, one of them a home run by Capicek with Carlson on base in the fourth. In the fifth two singles and an error by Dietz accounted for the other Badger run.

The Teachers went into the seventh trailing 3 to 2. They opened their half of the inning by combining two passes, a hit and a sacrifice to load the bases after which Barnabo singled to score two of the runners.

Ruth Goes Hitless in Return to Home Town

BY ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York, April 23 (AP)—Despite the signal failure of Babe Ruth to find fresh inspiration in the old home town or contribute anything striking to the gala proceedings, the Boston Braves today carried the Giants through eleven hard-fought innings before yielding a 6-5 decision before the biggest crowd that has ever witnessed a National league opening in New York.

Fifty thousand fans, including 47,009 cash customers, nearly filled the Polo Grounds for the occasion. Obviously they were attracted more by the metropolitan debut of Ruth in National league uniform than by the homecoming of the Giants. They roared lustily for the Babe, hoping to see him celebrate his return to his favorite hitting grounds with old-time vigor, but the big fellow failed dismally to produce and was out of the game, all but forgotten, by the time Mel Ott lashed a single to right to score George Davis with the winning run and break up a tense overtime struggle in the gathering gloom.

Five Home Runs

There were five home runs hit but Ruth failed even to get the ball out of the infield in four trips to the plate. He grounded out twice to Bill Terry, once was tossed out on a hard smash to Mark Koenig. He walked on his other trip to the plate and trotted home, in the sixth, on Pinky Whitney's circuit clout into the left field stands. Feeling the effects of a cold and complaining of a sore leg, he yielded his outfield post to Joe Mowry in the last half of the eighth inning.

Ruth didn't seem to feel at home in the shadow of the right field stands either. The big fellow misjudged Terry's terrific smash in the third. It sailed over his head and rolled to the bull pen as the Giants manager circled the bases for a homer. The Babe also played the rebound on Gus Mancuso's double badly in the fourth, but he made up for this by backing up against the wall and pulling down Terry's 410-foot drive in the next frame.

Buck Jordan, the Braves first sacker, forced the game into extra inning by slamming out the fifth homer in the ninth with Rupert Thompson on base, Allyn Stout, who had relieved Fat Freddy Fitzsimmons in the box for the Giants. Up to that point the home club had the situation well under control, thanks to Dick Bartell's first inning homer—his first in two years—and a steady attack that forced Walter Betts out of the game after four innings on the mound for the Braves.

The veteran Bob Smith, although touched for the fifth New York run in the sixth inning on hits by Hank Leiber and Mark Koenig, coupled with Travis Jackson's sacrifice bunt, stopped the Giants with two on in both the ninth and tenth but finally yielded in the eleventh to an unexpected source of punch.

Adolfo Luque, 44-year-old Cuban right-hander who had relieved Stout in the ninth and held the Braves in check for the next two innings, dropped a single along the right-field line to start the Giants toward victory. Joe Moore and Bartell were retired on flies but Terry walked, Davis replaced Luque on the bases and Ott blasted the decisive hit, his third of the game. Luque received credit for the victory.

All five of the Braves runs were due to homers. In addition to those by Whitney and Jordan, each with a man on base, big Shanty Hogan slashed one of Fitzsimmons' knuckle balls into the left-field stands in the third. Hogan collected three hits and a pass in four trips to the plate, narrowly missing another home run in the fifth when a towering drive to left sailed foul by a few feet.

Mark Koenig, playing second base for the Giants in place of Hughey Critz, was spiked by Bob Smith in the ninth as he covered first but continued in the game after receiving first aid. With Critz called home by the illness of his wife, the Giants have no extra infielders.

The game was preceded by a parade of both teams, headed by the 71st Regiment band, and the ceremony of flag-raising in centerfield, near the memorial to John Joseph McGraw. Notables in the crowd included Governor Hoffman of New Jersey, John A. Heydler, chairman of the board of the National league and Mayor LaGuardia, who tossed out the first ball.

JOE ANDERSON WINS BY KAYO

Brother Roy Loses Fight at Marinette; Milt Kell Beaten

Menominee, April 23. (Special)—A capacity crowd of some 500 people jammed the Marinette armory last night for an excellent fight card presented under the auspices of Co. A, Marinette unit of the Wisconsin National Guard.

Six of the seven fights were hard, closely matched bouts, and the two windup events more than satisfied the crowd that filled every seat to watch the three negro fighters from Milwaukee fight northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan fistic favorites.

Kell Beaten

Jack Edwards, a fast, two-fisted Milwaukee negro, ended the series of victories being run up by Milton Kell, Wilson, when he landed two hard rights to the side of Kell's head a second before the bell at the end of the first round. A long, deep cut was opened up at the corner of the Wilson fighter's eye, and he was unable to start the second round.

The fight appeared to be Edwards' soon after the opening bell, as the colored boy landed several hard rights to Kell's head and body. But few fans expected the fight to end so abruptly. Edwards weighed in at 146 1-2 pounds and Kell at 148 3-4 pounds.

In the semi-windup bout, the best fight in an evening of fine bouts, Fred Pyant, colored champion of Milwaukee who recently took the measure of Johnny Brunette, Green Bay golden gloves champion, won a unanimous decision of the judges from Roy Anderson, Gladstone.

Pyant Scores Decision

Both fighters traded punches on even terms in the first round, but Pyant's hard left began to shake down the Gladstone youngster in the second frame. It was a fast, hard-hitting match with both fighters showing both boxing skill and a willingness to mix. Anderson stayed with the Milwaukee fighter, and both boys absorbed considerable punishment before the final bell.

The fifth bout of the evening, and the first of the windups was the only one that failed to come up to the fan's expectations. Mitchell Milan, negro, Milwaukee, refused to stay with Joe Anderson, Gladstone, toward the end of the first round of their scheduled three-round bout. Anderson landed one or two solid blows in the first few minutes of the round, while Milan failed to lay a glove on the Gladstone fighter.

Counted Out

To the surprise of the crowd, after an exchange of blows which did not sound or appear hard, the negro fell to one knee, and refused to get up while Referee McKay counted him out.

Bill Grimm, Bessemer, put up an unusually game fight against a vastly superior boxer, Omar Crocker, Iron Mountain, only to lose by a technical k. o. in the third round. Crocker took the fight to Grimm, who proved an able defensive fighter. By the middle of the third round Grimm was bleeding badly about the nose and mouth, and the referee stopped the fight.

BROOKLYN GOES IN FIRST PLACE

Dodgers Open Season at Home With 12-5 Win Over Phillies

Brooklyn, April 23. (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers took undisputed possession of first place in the National league today as they opened their home season by defeating the Phillies 12 to 5 before a crowd of 30,000.

Johnny Moore's third home run of the season and Adolph Camilli's sixth in the second inning put the Phillies out in front but the Dodgers shelled Snipe Hansen and Joe Bowman to the showers in the fourth with a six-run attack and then collected four more in the sixth off a pair of rookies—Pezzullo and Jorgens.

Linus Frey provided the big explosion in the fourth when he hit a home run with the bases packed. A bit later, Tony Cuccinello hit another homer with one on.

Michigan Defeats Northwestern, 10-4

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 23 (AP)—University of Michigan baseball team opened its home season today, defeating Northwestern by a 10 to 4 in a Western conference game. Michigan's runs were scored on eight hits helped by an equal number of errors by the Wildcats.

Art Patchin, veteran right-hander, allowed Northwestern seven hits and struck out twelve. Pederson was the only Wildcat who caused Patchin real trouble. The big right fielder connected for two triples and a home run and scored three of the four runs made by the visitors. Michigan had its big inning in the sixth during which five hits and an error, including doubles by Heyliger and Williams, produced five runs. Tom Woods who started on the mound for Northwestern retired in this frame with two on and none out. Ray Kimbell finished the game.

RIFLE MATCHES TO BE RENEWED

Camp Perry, Ohio, Again Scene of Impressive Sporting Event

Washington, D. C.—Because President Roosevelt signed the War Department Appropriation Bill last week, more than three thousand expert riflemen will bring their guns to Camp Perry, Ohio, this summer to compete in one of the year's most impressive sporting events, the National Rifle and Pistol Matches, according to an announcement made here by the National Rifle Association.

Although the dates of the matches have not yet been set by the National Match Board, they will probably begin about September 1 and run for a period of three weeks. Between two and three million rounds of ammunition will be fired in that time and more than five dozen trophies will be awarded to the outstanding competitors on the range.

The matches have been held annually since 1873, but were discontinued after 1931 because of the strained economic condition of the country. The championships were awarded during the intervening years on the basis of scores fired in regional matches, but one section of the new Appropriation Bill sets aside a sum of money for staging the matches on their proper scale.

The various events on the schedule include every phase of small arms firing, from instruction courses with small guns for junior shooters, to firing at the thousand yard range with .30 caliber rifles. Perhaps the most popular competition on the program is the President's Match. In the 1931 matches, 1738 expert shooters took their places on the firing line to try to earn a place among the "President's Hundred," the All-American team of riflemen. First place that year was won by Reginald Herin of Jackson, Miss., who managed to score 145 out of a possible 150 points despite the rainy weather which held forth during the greater part of the match. Paul Goulden, the star sharpshooter of the U. S. Coast Guard who won the event in the regional matches of 1934 with the score of 146, is given an excellent chance to retain the title although no man has ever won "The President's" twice.

French Driven Off Hill In Third, Hartnett Gets Homer

St. Louis, April 23 (AP)—Paul Dean held the Chicago Cubs to seven hits today while his world champion Cardinal teammates pounded out a 9 to 5 victory in their 1935 home debut before 10,000 fans.

Frankie Frisch's men got going early and drove French from the mound in the third inning with a four-run onslaught. Hartnett poled a home run in the fourth, scoring Demaree, but the Cardinals came back in their half of the frame to knock Joiner from the box and garner three more runs.

Demaree, Cub center fielder, clouted the second Chicago four-base blow in the ninth.

Cleveland Noses Out Browns, 7-6

Cleveland, April 23 (AP)—A two-run rally in the ninth inning enabled the Cleveland Indians to defeat the St. Louis Browns, 7 to 6 today in the season opener here. Approximately 23,000 fans saw the game.

A triple by Joe Vosmik was the dramatic finish to the battle, although Earl Averill crossed the plate with the winning run when Catcher Rollie Hemsley of the Browns threw wild to first base in trying for a double play. Odell Hale then hit to shortstop Allan Strange, whose throw to the plate forced Vosmik.

The Indians piled up five runs in the first inning, three of them knocked in by Hale's home run over the right field fence. The Browns made four runs on four hits in the fifth frame and took the lead in the sixth when Mellilo scored as Hughes threw out Burns.

Clint Brown, Cleveland pitcher who replaced Mel Harder on the mound in the fifth, was credited with the victory.

Ice Field Delays Conservation Boat At Whitefish Bay

The state conservation department's patrol boat was held up yesterday at Whitefish Bay due to the large ice fields there. H. D. Ruhl, of the game division, department of conservation, was here yesterday awaiting the arrival of the patrol boat. It is not known for certain where the crates for shipping Isle Royale moose will be loaded on the boat due to the ice in Munising bay.

Mr. Ruhl stated that there were several factors to be taken into consideration in transporting the moose. He said that they have found that the moose can be captured alive and that they can be corraled.

The moose are being taken from Isle Royale because of the large number there and it is hard for them to exist in such large quantities. Mr. Ruhl also stated that the department has yet to find out if the moose can survive in the crates for any length of time, if they can be transported in the crates and if they can stand the change of environment when they are taken to the Cusino game refuge. If all of these factors prove successful it is probable that more of the moose will be transported here.

Eleven moose will be brought here, eight of which will be taken to the Cusino game refuge and the remaining three will be loaded on a truck and transported to the Detroit zoo at Royal Oak for exhibition purposes. Mr. Ruhl stated that if the moose survive the trip to Detroit that approximately a half million people will see them.

Incuding Mr. Ruhl in the passenger list are Walter E. Hastings, department staff photographer; Jack Van Coevering, Ben East and Lee J. Smits, outdoor news writers; Dr. Don R. Coourn, pathologist of the department of agriculture, and a representative of the Detroit zoo.

Mr. Ruhl will go to Houghton from here by auto and there he will join the other passengers. There they will board the boat for Isle Royale.

Mr. Ruhl stated that it is hard to tell when the boat will return here with the moose because of the factors to be taken into consideration in the transporting of the moose.
